The NINDS Clinical Trials Methodology Course (CTMC) is accepting applications for the 2017 cohort.

The application deadline is February 28, 2017 at midnight PST. The CTMC is an intensive, engaging program designed to help junior investigators develop scientifically rigorous, yet practical clinical trial protocols. The course features a combination of distance learning activities and a residential course with small group mentorship from experienced clinical trialists and biostatisticians. The residential course will be held on August 7-11, 2017 in Iowa City, IA. Funding for travel and accommodations will be provided. Application forms and additional details are available on the course website <https://nett.umich.edu/training/ctmc>. If you have any questions please email NINDS-CTMC-Info@umich.edu or contact the CTMC PI, William Meurer, MD, MS at wmeurer@umich.edu.
